Maine Matters.

The political affairs in Maine are considerably mixed, and it is difficult to tell who is to be the next governor there. The result of mixtures is sometimes a good thing. The popular cough remedy, Symphyx, is made up of a mixture of different roots and herbs, neither one of which would be of much use by itself, but, in combination, a most excellent remedy is the result. May we not hope for some good to come from the Maine mixture.

THE DEATH SENTENCE

Passed Upon Dan, Potter, the Cocke Coun. v Merde er.

He is to Hear at Newport, Friday. November 12th

The doom of Daniel Potter, Cocke county murderer, was sealed in the supreme court yesterday. It will be remembered that Potter was convicted of the killing of Willia Mo-Mahan in Cocke county, near Newport, something over a year ago. The murder, as shown by all the proof in the case, was a most willful, premeditated and malicious one, he having lain in wait for his victim. Both were under the influence of liquor. The difficulty arose about a Blountville Star: Rev. Peter Em-mert, an aged Methodist minister, a blacksmith shop. We venture the assertion that the large audience who turned out last night to hear Norma were as much surprised at the richness of the musical treat set before them as the CHRONICLE was. Let no one say after this that Knoxville has not an abundance of musical and dramatic talent, because, as yet, the wand had never been applied to it to quicken into the life. The chorus and the vocalists, who took part in last night's performance, all did exceedingly well. Miss Crozier, as Norma, acted, sang and looked her part as well as an amateur can do. It must be remembered in judging of this rendition that the character of Norma is one of such great difficulty to personate that out of all the lyric stage not more than three or four make it a specialty. Miss Mary Crozier, as Adalgisa, also was a grand success. misunderstanding between Potter and She has a splendid voice and enters into D. B. Everybody in Knoxville bas heard her and all know that she will be one to be proud of in the future, when a few more years pass over her and her voice ripens and gains culture. Mr. Crozier, the Pollio, was suffering from physical debility and a very bad cold, consequently he could not do himself any justice, and the manner in which he sustained himself in his thankless condition deserved and won the favor of his audience. Miss K. Annah Crozier, at the piano, acquitted herself nobly and went through with her difficult part, accompanied with great fidelity and vigor. The success which attended the opera is due to the untiring efforts of Mr. Crozier, Prof. Knabe and Mrs. French, the first that elaborated the project, put it on its feet and rendered it a possibility, the second for supervision of the chorus and solo singing, and Mrs. French for her Potter certainly presents the appear- thorough drill of the elocutionary and

New Democratic Headquarters. That the democracy has no originality, but only exists by copying from the republicans, is as forcibly illustrated in the maneuverings of our local circles as by a perusal of their national platforms for the past twenty years as compared with those of the opposite party. The republicans procured and put out a magnificent and handsome banner here, and our democratic friends went to work at once to preparing one which is to be put out soor. The Garfield and Arthur club procured the material for the erection of a pole in front of headquarters, and we understand the democrats have also made arrangements to do the same thing, but both schemes are 12:30 p. m. knocked in the head by the action of the city council last night in ordering the enforcement of the ordinance.
